

THE RELUCTANT LEADER

Some are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them. You are the person to whom the power falls—not because you chose it, but because it chose you. Basically, you've been thrown into a group with helpless babies, and if you don't take responsibility, no one will. Someone has to divvy up the PowerPoint slides and drag this ragtag group of misfits to a B+ at best, and, well, it looks like that person's going to be you.

Your Team Style Is The Harmonizer

The Harmonizer is an integral part of a team, acting as the glue that holds members together. They excel in fostering collaboration, camaraderie, and building strong relationships within the group. With an innate ability to understand and relate to others, they often play a key role in maintaining team morale and cohesion. The Harmonizer is also adept at conflict resolution, and through their diplomatic skills, they are able to address issues and disagreements in a way that promotes understanding and compromise. Their empathetic nature makes them approachable, and team members often feel comfortable confiding in them or seeking their counsel on interpersonal matters.